

Middle/Upper School Summer Reading 2024

Continue cultivating the habit of reading and escaping into new worlds this summer with a good book! All students must select one book from the CFP Summer Reading List and be prepared to discuss it in their English classes during the first week of school.

We firmly believe that with each new book you delve into, you are not just reading, but also evolving as a thinker. The exposure to and exploration of intricate ideas and masterful writing is a catalyst for your personal growth, enhancing your own thinking and sophistication as a reader and writer.

.....
Choose one of the following works to read carefully. When you return to CFP in August, we look forward to hearing you share your perceptions about the writer's style and thematic ideas. To help you prepare for discussions about the book, we want you to either annotate the text or create a journal.

- As a good reader, watch for key scenes and consider how they are pivotal to the book's meaning.
- Pay attention to the devices the writer uses to create those ideas.
- What are your favorite lines and scenes?
- What questions does the book raise for you?
- To what extent does it provide answers to those questions?

Remember, summer reading is an integral part of our academic culture. In the CFP English Department, we value your thoughts and opinions, and we eagerly await your insights on the stories and topics you've explored through your summer reading.

For book descriptions click here or scan this QR code!

Happy Reading!

Middle School

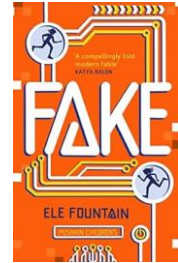

New Dragon City
by Mari Mancusi

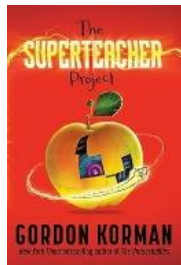

The Girl in White
by Lindsay Currie

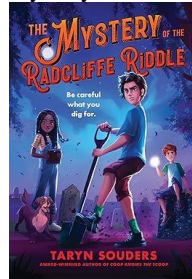

Fake
by Ele Fountain

The Superteacher Project
by Gordon Korman

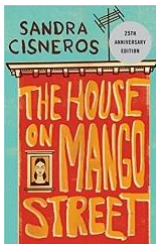

Mystery of the Radcliffe Riddle
by Taryn Souders

High School

The House on Mango Street
by Sandra Cisneros

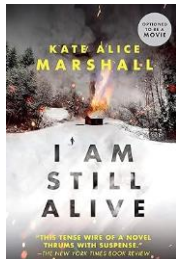

The Maze Runner
by James Dashner

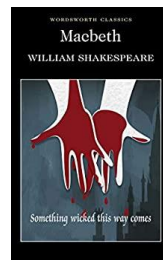

A Doll's House
by Henrik Ibsen

I Am Still Alive
by Kate Alice Marshall

Macbeth
by Willi Shakespeare

The Ballad of Songbirds and Snakes

by Suzanne Collins

